

'COME AND TRY' WEEK!

CBDS offers a free trial week for children wanting to join the school. This allows students to become familiar with the studio atmosphere and dance styles in a low-stress environment.

✓ Children should wear clothing they are comfortable moving in, such as leggings or shorts and a short sleeve top. A jacket or jumper can be worn, but will most likely be taken off due to the amount of movement involved in dancing.

✓ Children should bring:

- Named/labelled water bottle
- Spare hair ties and clips
- Bag for personal belongings
- Clean pair of socks to dance in

BEGINNER FAQS

How do fees work?

The CBDS fee structure caters to families with more than one child participating in classes and to a family with a child who wants to experience as many dance styles as possible. The more classes a dancer takes, the more beneficial the discount! Visit our 'Timetable and Fees' page for more detailed information.

Are exams and competitions compulsory?

Undertaking exams is not compulsory, however exercises and exam technique is taught in class to ensure the development of all dancers is consistent. Students are encouraged to participate in exams as a part of their growth and learning.

Competition involvement is optional. CBDS caters to each dancer individually if they would like to advance their skills through competing at an elite level. Visit our 'Competitions' page for more detailed information.
